Working Together

As a Community

One of the largest projects of the school in serving its community is the drive for United Fund carried on by the student council. After the money is collected it is given to the township united fund committee. It is then divided among the various organizations as is demonstrated on the wheel in the picture. This year the grade school collected a total of $61.42 and the high school collected $114.27. A contest was held among the different home rooms. In the grades Miss Newby's room was the winner with 28.8¢ per person. In the high school the winners were Mr. Meeks' seniors with 65¢ per person. In the picture are Marjorie Hoover, Norman Barga, Mr. Myers, Sybil Brammer, and Laura Irwin.

We Serve.....

In serving our community, the jr. high and high school made a drive for the Good Will Industry. Good Will bags were sent to various homes to be filled with discarded clothing. When the bags were filled and returned, they were turned over to Jack Bundy, the Good Will representative of this community. FRONT ROW: Jack Bundy. SECOND ROW: Myron Harris, David Stearns, Joe Lane, Larry Walda, Richard Rump, Lee Catron and James Williams. STAND- in the truck is Robert L. Myers.

One of the great services the community does for the school is the vocational guidance day sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Representatives from various vocations come to the school to talk about their chosen vocations. All students attend the meeting which deals with the vocations they intend to follow. It has been the custom to invite several neighboring schools to attend. Those who participated last year were Spiceland, Kennard, Carthage, Charlottesville, and Knightstown. In the picture is the vocational guidance committee and representatives from the senior class planning this year's guidance day. SEATED are Mr. George Hall, president of the Kiwanis Club, Sara Wing, Leila Hiner, Mr. Lyle Bell, chairman of the committee, Mr. Clark Mull, Mr. Joe White, and Mr. Vern Perry. STANDING are Mr. Fred Wright, Mr. Harry Manning, Don Moore and Boyce Storie.

.....We Are Served

The people of the community not only come into the school to serve us, but, also, they open their homes as is shown in this picture of Pidgeon's kitchen. Mr. and Mrs. Pidgeon opened their home to this home economics class so the girls could see a model kitchen of the American Home Magazine. STANDING around the stove are Sue Neal, Lois Thompson, Norene Wyatt, Sue Zane Cox, and Shirley Black.

We Entertain

Various community organizations call upon different departments of the school to assist in their entertainment programs. Among these are Presbyterian Missionary Society, Kiwanis Club, D.A.R. Chamber of Commerce, Friends Church, Christian Church, P.T.O. and other local clubs. Rehearsing for a play at the Presbyterian Church are Shirley Walker, Richard Runyon, and Sam Chase, a dramatic team from the speech department.

We Are Entertained

Each year different organizations in town entertain many of the students from the school. In the picture at the Right, Blanche Stevens, 2nd vice president; Ruth Hiner, 1st vice president; Ethel Bridges, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club greet Pricilla Jackson, Gloria Boyle, Patty Stoots, and Carol Ulrey. Each year the B.P.W. entertain the senior girls. Other organizations who entertain the students from the school are Psi Iota Xi; Kappa Kappa Kappa; Christian Church, Methodist Church, K of P Lodge, Kiwanis Club, Citizen National Bank, Knightstown Furniture Store, and Cliff Payne.

with the School Board

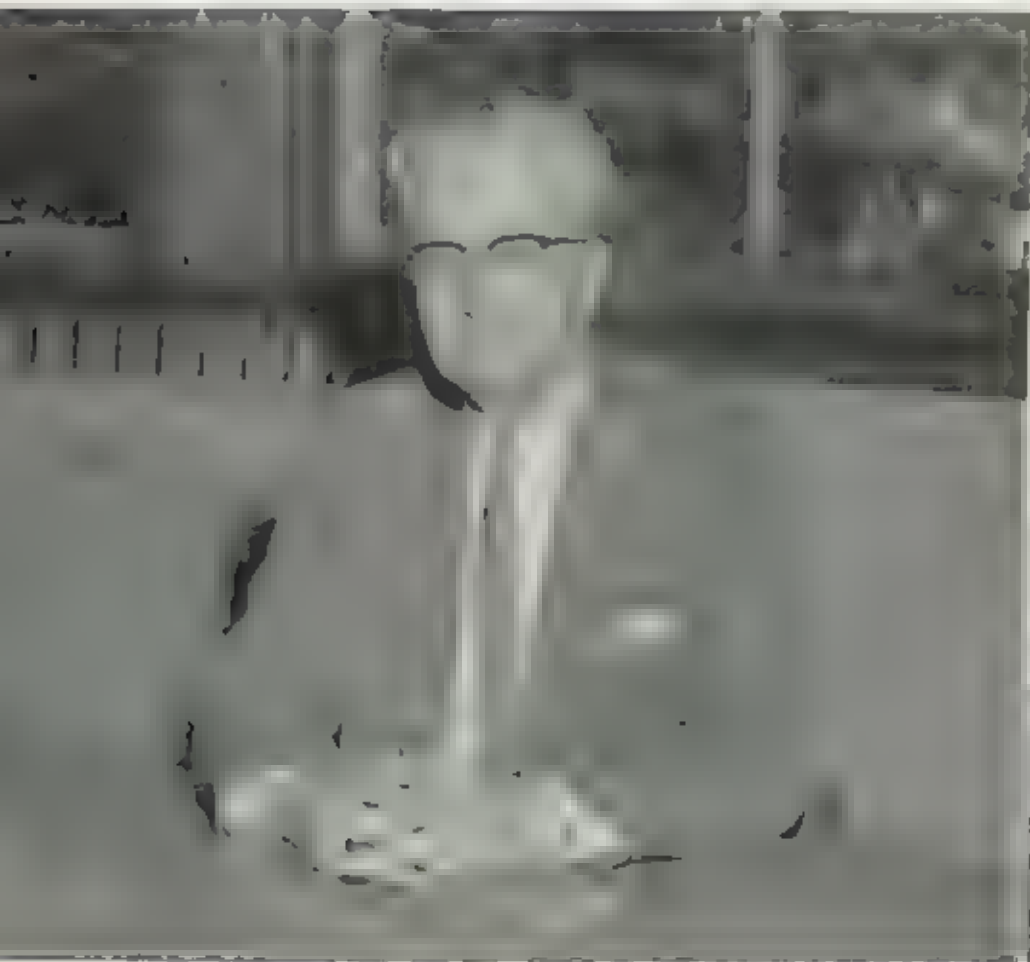

School business is in every sense big business. Big in numbers of persons involved, big in cost of operation, big in its multiplicity of activities, big in opportunities to offer highest type of service, and finally big in possibilities for personal advancement. Because of its many interests it is possible to forget that the one and only reason for the existence of school business is to give and receive instruction. It is possible that a minor interest may receive more than it's due in time and effort or that an essential part of the program is neglected. Care must be taken to see that the many worthwhile interests of our students be properly placed in the program and that those unworthy activities be eliminated.

It is tremendously important that our fine boys and girls recognize the opportunities that are theirs to make the greatest possible growth to the end that they shall be the kind of good and worthwhile persons they want so much to be. When this aim is put first, then school business is big business.

L. E. Rogers
Superintendent

The Administration and Faculty

Walk down memory land and reminisce with pride and satisfaction of the days you spent in Knightstown High School. Create the desire to learn. Strive to fulfill that desire with all the facilities that you possess. Knowledge is power. Never lose the quest for it

Lyle O. Bell
High School Principal

The way the patrons, teachers, and pupils in the schools of our consolidated system are working together, to make consolidation a success, is a tribute to all the communities participating. Cooperation makes it possible for the schools to do the utmost for boys and girls, our future citizens.

Earl R. Poer
Elementary Principal

Dean of Boys

Guidance is an organized service to give systematic aid to students in making adjustments to various types of problems--educational, vocational, health, moral, social, civic, and personal. We are here to help you, so feel free to come in for a conference whenever you desire.

Robert L. Myers

Dean of Girls

Hello! Won't you come in? If you need help with your schedule, with vocational or social problems, or perhaps you just want to talk, come in and we will get acquainted.

Work with Pupils for Progress

Tools for Learning

This stack of books represents the books a student studies from his first grade through his senior year. Nelle Parker, bookstore manager and Mr. Bell's secretary, stands beside the bookstore door watching two boys with their books. Chris Mayse, a first grader, is holding his; while Carl Kegerreis cannot even pick up the books which he has used in his twelve years of educational training. This school year marks the twentieth anniversary of the Knightstown High School bookstore. In 1937 there were rented two senior books, a physics and a civics book, which were newly adopted for five years. As new books were adopted, they were rented to the students.

The books which are used for five years are rented each year for one-fourth the retail price. The money received the fifth year is used to repair books and to replace those which have been lost or destroyed.

Keeper of the Funds

Ann Bartle is typing a report perhaps for Superintendent L. E. Rogers. She has been working here at this school for fifteen years. Her primary task is keeping the school accounts and the books for the school board and the superintendent. In all she keeps the records for twenty-three activities.

Teens Aid Principals

Mr. Bell and Mr. Poer have students who assist them in their offices. Donna Goudy, Nancy Trimnell, Sharon Meredith, Patty Stoots, Becky Porter, and Leila Hiner are Mr. Poer's assistants; while Dee Ellen Haase, Janet Hummel, Nancy Somers, Marjorie Hoover, and Gloria Boyle help Mr. Bell. Many of their tasks are the same in both offices; however they vary somewhat. They operate the duplicator for the teachers and the two principals. They also type, answer the phone and place calls, and maintain contact between the two buildings. Besides these jobs the girls act as receptionists to salesmen and other visitors. Mr. Bell's assistants carry on as much other business as comes under their jurisdiction, such as, selling school supplies and filling out tardy slips and admittance slips. Among other errands which they do, they also dispense bulletins and other data. Pictured left to right are: front row: Sharon Meredith, Patty Stoots, Dee Ellen Haase, Marjorie Hoover, Leila Hiner, and Gloria Boyle. On the stairs are Nancy Somers, Janet Hummel, Donna Goudy, Nancy Trimnell, and Rebecca Porter.

Fun, Games, Showers, Grades

William Derrickson, boys' physical education teacher, and David Brown watch as Bill Molden demonstrates a position in tumbling. Mr. Derrickson also has classes in driver's education and health and is assistant coach. The equipment which was at Kennard was brought down for the classes here. The boys participate in intermural tournaments in various sports. Mr. Derrickson feels his classes help his students develop sportsmanship and an ability to work with others. It develops an interest in activities that can be used as recreation in later life. He also says it gives the boys an opportunity to "let off" steam. Wanda Smith, girls' physical education teacher, is instructing her girls. Her gym classes worked rhythms, learned folk dancing and played softball, relays, and other outdoor games. Learning how to work as a team is one of the values of physical education. Although much of her schedule includes classes for those in grades seven thru ten, Miss Smith also teaches the grade school physical education and teaches a health class. She strives to show her pupils how to use physical education in all activities of life. Mary Cox, Barbara Smith, Sharon Barnes, and Myra Martin are her gym assistants.

Amo, Amas, Amat.

Ersie Naffe explains the fundamental structure which she teaches in second year Latin and her junior and senior English classes. To aid her in teaching Latin, she uses movies and bulletin boards. She correlates English and Latin to enable the student to make the transition from Latin to English smoothly and easily. By instilling in the student a better understanding of English grammar through Latin, the student can write better themes and papers.

Let's Take the State

Joyce Skaggs, local speech teacher, is opening an envelope which undoubtedly contains an invitation to one of the many speech meets attended throughout the state by her students. With her are three of her students: Pat Butler, Shirley Walker, and Becky Vest. Mrs. Skaggs also sponsors the senior class and N.F.L. Besides speech she teaches social studies, English, and a yearbook class. As well as entering meets, her speech students present programs to Kiwanis and other civic clubs and perform in plays during the spring. Her desire is to give a boy or a girl enough confidence to stand before a group and express himself clearly.

What Aromas Come from the Kitchen

Charlotte Kney is watching Sondra Porter, Lois Brown, and Jean VanDuyn as they take an open book test. Miss Kney teaches homemaking and biology. Edith Tipton also teaches homemaking. This year two new unit kitchens, complete with maple cabinets and two automatic ranges, were installed in the homemaking department. Each year the home ec. girls put on a style show and have a Christmas Tea for the faculty. Any senior girl may enter the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Contest for a scholarship. The Necchi Company gives three awards to the best seamstresses in Homemaking. The department teaches the girls to be good homemakers which includes learning to be good cooks, and seamstresses, to manage their homes and the family budget, and to care for their children. The two teachers also strive to teach them to take part in the activities of their community and to be good citizens.

Are the Basketball Programs Finished?

Norman Bassett is watching his students as they work. The drafting department got some new bow compasses this year. No individual awards are given except in industrial arts as a whole. The classes give the students a sample of industrial drafting. It broadens their experience so that they may take up drafting as a vocation or avocation.

That House Plan Is Due Tomorrow

Norman Bassett is showing Doug Shores how to operate a proof press during one of his printing classes. The proof press and a paper cutter have been added to the equipment in the printing department. A larger room is being used for the two classes. The printing department serves the school in many different ways. All of the absence slips, tardy slips, admittance slips, and passes are printed there. Programs, tickets, stationery, and posters are also printed for the school. The printing department strives to give first hand understanding of vocational opportunity.

Bring a Soil Sample

Howard Meeks supervises Jim Swindell and Darrell Hames as they test soil. Mr. Meeks teaches vocational agriculture and biology. He shows movies to demonstrate many of the things they study. They use soil and milk testing equipment, soil sampling tubes, and tree pruning and farm shop tools. His classes also work with microscopes, dissecting equipment, samples of fertilizers, seeds, and grain graders. Each year he has his agriculture classes collect weed seeds, insects, and tree leaves. His students keep farm records, participate in judging activities and go on field trips to nearby farms. The FFA has a gilt chain which they tend. They also have a school dance each fall. They participate in county crops, livestock, dairy, and poultry contests. Each year the DeKalb Agriculture Award, the FFA Chapter Star Farmer Award, and the Judging Teams Awards are given. Mr. Meeks says the purpose of the agriculture classes is to train farm boys for the business of farming and related occupations.

Walter Haverkamp and Mariellen Ammerman watch Jack Avery work on an experiment. He teaches general science and chemistry. The department has sufficient apparatus for demonstrating the basic principles in chemistry, electricity, magnetism, heat, light, atmospheric pressure and the other branches of the physical sciences. A group of math and science students visited the science exhibit at Purdue in November. Mr. Haverkamp hoped to have some representation at the spring exhibit. The science department is interested in helping people understand what is going on around them in this scientific age. The science department strives to develop scientific curiosity in those students who show an interest and aptitude in science and related subjects. This is particularly true since the recent foreign developments such as the Sputniks. He hopes to help all students grow individually and to recognize the fact that they have a responsible membership in a democratic society and the troubled world today.

This Is the Way It's Done

Marcus Ellis, general shop teacher, is working with the lathe as Manasseh Gillam and Tom Armstrong watch. In his general shop classes he teaches metals, electricity, woods, and plastics. The shop classes use hand tools and power tools including wood and metal lathes, a metal shaper, and circular, hand and jig saws. An industrial arts award is given to an outstanding shop student based on shop work during four years of participation. Mr. Ellis strives to acquaint the student with the tools, materials, and practices of industry which may be used as a basis for a vocation of his choice.

Practice Makes Perfect

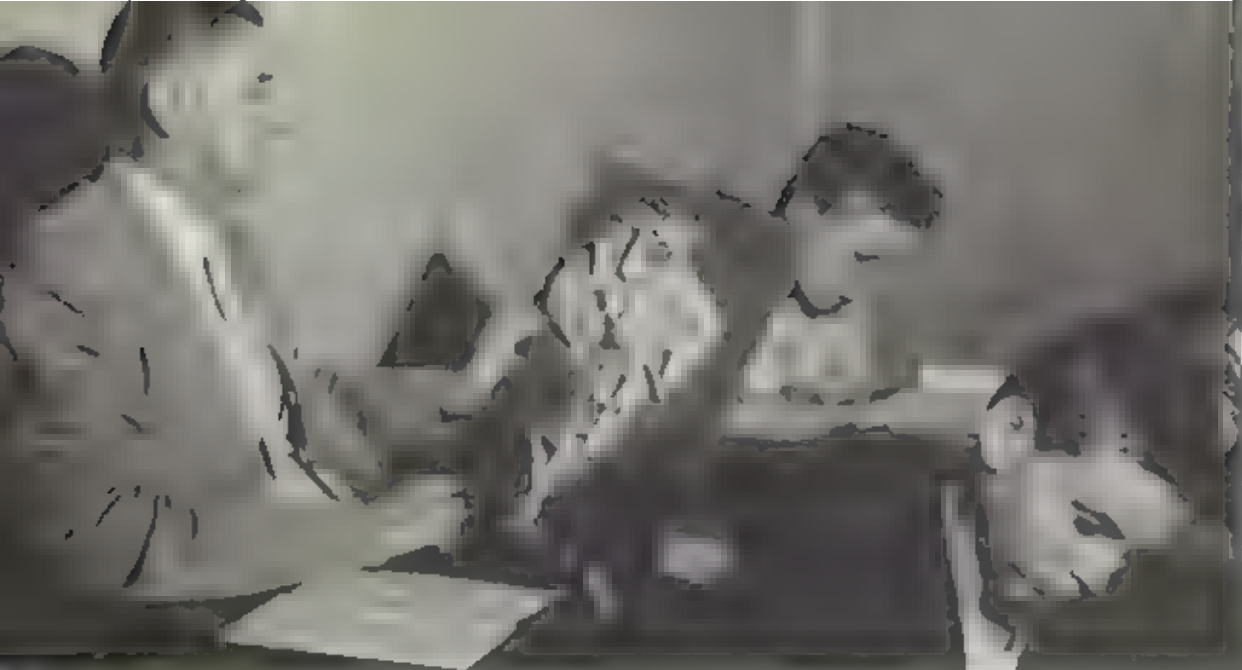

Mrs. MARGARET M. SIMONS is showing Jean Ann Davis and Eldred Butcher how to run the mimeograph. She teaches typing, shorthand and English 10. EVELYN A. WARNER is watching Sybil Brammer as she types a business letter. Miss Warner teaches Business English, bookkeeping, commercial arithmetic, and typing. Besides using the standard typewriters the students also have access to an electric typewriter, an Earphone, a Dictaphone, and adding machines. This year for the first time a Gregg award will be given for the highest speed and production in shorthand. Miss Warner took her bookkeeping classes to visit one of the banks. The Commercial Department prepares the students to get part-time jobs during the summer and to qualify for secretarial work after graduation. The Department introduces the office machines to the students, giving them a working knowledge of how the machines work. This gives the student the opportunity to work for the faculty, doing such things as typing tests and running them off on the machines. The student is also better prepared for college work, for almost all papers to be handed in must be typed.

Good, Better, Best

Mrs. HELEN GREENLAND is explaining to Rose Flower and Phyllis Jordan how a phrase in music is like a sentence in English, for Mrs. Greenland teaches not only two English classes but also grade music and directs the high school chorus. PATTY LYONS shows a group of her students, consisting of Rebecca Ratliff, John Dickens, Ronnie Ballenger, Kenny Gregory, and Jim Swindell, how to diagram a simple sentence. Mrs. Lyons teaches six classes of English to students in grades seven thru ten. Her seventh grade pupils wrote poetry this year and several of her students entered speech contests. Lois Simmerman illustrates verbals to one of her six English classes. Throughout the English Department bulletin boards and filmstrips are used to show the importance of English.

Our Heritage in a Changing World

HILTON BALLENGER is grading a salt and flour map made by one of his students as William Schaeffer and Ricky Forst study the next day's assignment. Harlan Clark is telling his U.S. History class that a term paper will be due January 27. Mrs. Skaggs and Mr. Myers teach civics. The social studies teachers use maps, charts and movies as aids in their teaching. Mr. Ballenger showed one of his classes how to make salt and flour maps, then each student made one. He also took a class to visit the Henry County Historical Society. Mr. CLARK planned two projects for his classes, a battle scene of Pearl Harbor and the trend in transportation. Social studies offer the social, economic and political knowledge of the world of yesterday and today. In this way pupils learn the direct and indirect causes and results of world affairs. Social studies offer the opportunity to determine how past history has affected our living and to speculate as to what, why, and how we will be living in the future. Thus a pattern is formed for a successful future in life. Social studies prepare the student now for the complex problems that are ahead in a changing world.

$$(a+b)z^2 - (a-b)z = a$$

RICHARD SCHNECK, a jr. high mathematics teacher, is discussing the next day's assignment with his class. Claude L. Sipe is explaining an algebra problem to Jerry Williamson. Besides freshman algebra, Mr. Sipe also teaches advanced algebra, plane geometry, solid geometry, and trigonometry. With Ralph Crock is Patty Riley to whom he is explaining the reason the triangles are congruent. Each year the mathematics department participates in the Indiana University Achievement Day programs. Mr. SCHNECK, Mr. SIPE, and Mr. CROCK attempt to provide the students with an understanding of mathematics and the tools to solve these problems. They encourage clear, logical thinking. Great emphasis is being placed on mathematics today. A knowledge of higher mathematics is a prerequisite for scientific scholarships and higher study in the scientific field.

Wilburn T. Elrod is studying some music he plans to use for band. He teaches A and B band at Knightstown, also he has C band at Kennard and Knightstown elementary schools. Besides these he has a junior high school chorus. This year the band got three new instruments: a 12 x 15 field drum, a B bass clarinet, and a C piccolo. They also bought new wind breakers with monograms. Each year the band and chorus put on a Christmas Convocation and a May Musical. The chorus participated in the District Choral Festival. Band and chorus teaches the students cooperation, physical coordination, and personal neatness. Furthermore it gives them the opportunity for individual achievement. By having responsibilities in Mr. Elrod's classes they learn self-reliance. These subjects offer a better understanding and appreciation of music and the arts in general

Art Takes Time and Patience

Nelda McKinney looks on as Bob Neal works on a picture. Miss McKinney teaches art and elementary music. The art department exhibits each year in the Eastern Indiana Art Exhibit at the Public Library. They make posters for school functions, decorations for the annual Halloween party, and paint Christmas scenes on the high school building windows. Don Moore exhibited a Cray-pas, still-life study of roses. Cray-pas is a pastel crayon made in Japan. The elementary music department furnishes music for convocations. Jane Brosius, Katie Smith, Verlyn Bishop, and Darlene Cox, a high school chorus group, sings for school programs and civic organizations. This year the group sang at the Social Studies session of the Indiana State Teacher's Association.

This Is a Good Book

Jane Kellum is checking out books for Robert E. McCorkle, Melvin Basicker, and Harold Gold. Besides being in charge of the library, she teaches Spanish and Latin. The Southwestern school library, located in the main building, serves grades one through twelve. In addition to various reference books, the book collection, augmented this year by the Kennard library, numbers about 3300 volumes. The school also has a growing collection of film strips and slides. The library is staffed throughout the day by students who volunteer their services to the student body and faculty. Their only compensation is the satisfaction of service and skill in using the materials in a library. The township grade schools are also supplied by the New Castle-Henry County bookmobile. However, they own their own reference collections, and this year many new reference materials have been purchased

The school cafeteria is located in the new grade building at Knightstown. As many as three hundred fifty students and often more are served each day by the cooks and high school girls who work in the cafeteria. A dish washer and food disposal are among the new equipment which has been installed. A large store room helps to improve the efficiency of the cafeteria. The dining room has been furnished with new tables that have attached benches. The large dining room is also used by the elementary for physical education classes. Many banquets are being held in the dining room. Pictured above are from Left to Right Vera Durham, an unknown elementary student, Mrs. Alice Walker, Elsie Brammer, Mildred Jeffery and Phyllis Riddle.

Bus Rides! Warm Rooms!

Above are the school bus drivers of the Southwestern Consolidated schools. The largest change in the transportation this year is that high school and elementary pupils do not ride the same buses. In all there are thirteen buses used by the school. One driver owns his own bus, two others own parts of theirs, and ten are owned by the school. NOT SHOWN are George Peters, Sr., George Peters, Jr., and Alvin Huntsman.

Working Together

in the Activities

Congratulations

This year at the end of seven semesters the senior boy and girl having the highest grade average were, as seen in the upper left hand picture, Tom Meeks and Teddy Zerr

Each year at the fall Band Booster Blowout a king and a queen are chosen and crowned to preside over the evening's events. Last fall the ones chosen, as seen in the lower left hand picture, were King Rusty McMillan and Queen Carole Ulrey

As the sectional tourney approaches each year everyone guesses whom the Student Council will chose to be Mr. and Miss Henry County candidates for our school. The county winner is drawn at the dance following the final game. The candidates, as seen in the lower right hand picture, were Dee Ellen Haase and Larry Collins.

Working Together in Student Problems

The student council, this year, has been engaged in several activities. It was in charge of the United Fund Drive, seating the students at convocations, and putting up the Christmas star on top of the school building. It helped choose five possible nicknames for the athletic department. After the student body chose the nickname, Panthers, the student council sold Panther stickers to earn money. The council is making tentative plans for publishing a student handbook in the future. Pictured FIRST ROW, Left to Right: David Brown, Karen Ripberger, Becky Welsh, David Steele, Larry Carmony, Mark Urey, Rose Ann Meeks, Martha Cable, Marjorie Hoover, vice president. SECOND ROW: Richard Runyon, Norman Barga, president, Danny Vaughn, Mike Scott, Sherman Graham, Ronnie Ballenger, Cary Ellis, Rusty McMillan. THIRD ROW: Mary Jo Sorrell, Nancy McNew, Cindy Manlove, Ricky Forst, John Pidgeon, Hugh Lee, Myrna Snodgrass, Sybil Brammer, treasurer, Mattie Shepherd, Laura Irwin, secretary, and Mr. Myers, sponsor.

Betty Crocker Homemaker

The Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow contest is open to all senior girls. The girl with the highest test score in her school wins. Her paper is then sent to the state, if she wins this, it is sent to the national contest to determine the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. The first place awards are: local-a Betty Crocker cook book and an engraved, gold Trifari pin, state-a $1,500 scholarship and a trip to the East, national-a $5,000 scholarship. Vechell Bilbrey was the winner for our school.

D. A. R. Good Citizen

Each year the Major Hugh Dinwiddie Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution in conjunction with the state and national organizations holds a contest to choose a Good Citizen. The seniors in each four-year accredited high school choose three girls on the basis of four qualities - dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism. The faculty then chooses one of the three girls to represent the school. Roberta Paul, our representative this year, won in Henry County and went on to the state.

National Forensic League

The Knightstown School was granted a charter by the National Forensic League in 1956. N.F.L. members are entitled to wear a silver pin which is shaped as a key and contains different stones to represent the degrees held. N.F.L.'s greatest value is found in the encouragement and incentive it gives pupils to become an effective speaker and hence a more successful and influential citizen. Members shown are from Left to Right, FIRST ROW: Charlotte Butler, Roberta Paul, Dee Ann Murray, Carole Ulrey, Darlene Cox, Sandra Watts, Sybil Brammer, Alice Jones. SECOND ROW: Rebecca Porter, Richard Runyon, Mickey Bell, Ronnie Lawrence, Sam Chase, Carl Kegerreis, Tom Meeks, James Walker, Rebecca Beatty. THIRD ROW: Patty Stoots, Mariellen Ammerman, Marilyn Smith, Janet Edwards, Beverly Hudelson, Barbara Conner, Linda Ewing, Julia Hamilton, Betty Jolly, Pat Butler, Joyce Skaggs, sponsor

A Winner

Charlotte Butler represented our school at the Indiana High School Forensic League state contest held at Indianapolis in May, 1957, where she entered the dramatic interpretation with a reading "The Snow Goose." In November, 1957, she received the degree of distinction in the National Forensic League after she had earned 250 points in contests and by giving service speeches. Charlotte is the first Knightstown pupil to have won this honor since the NFL charter was granted in 1956. To get the degree of excellence, three other degrees, the degree of merit, honor and excellence, must have been received.

Orators

Each year the American Legion Post sponsors the oratorical contest in the local high school and on throughout the county, district, zone and state. Cash prizes are given. The winners this year were: STANDING, Carole Ulrey, second SEATED, Left to Right, Mariellen Ammerman, third and Betty Jolly, first. George Chew, local commander, held a very nice local contest.

Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service

After Phi Beta Kappa was organized for honor students in college, a group of educators organized the National Honor Society to recognize high school students. The purpose of this society is to create an enthusiasm for high scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render distinctive service, to promote leadership, and to develop sound character in the students of America's secondary schools. Therefore membership is based upon character, scholarship, leadership, and service. To be considered for membership, the students must stand in the upper twenty-five per cent of their respective classes scholastically. They must have spent at least one year in the school. In May of 1947 the Knightstown chapter received its charter. At present the members are: SEATED: Tom Meeks, vice president; Larry LeMay, president; Beverly Hudson, treasurer; Roberta Paul, secretary; Miss Ipton, sponsor. STANDING: Leila Haer, Marjorie Hoover, Nancy Somers, Theodora Zerr, Marilyn Smith, Jo Ann Molden, Janice Brammer, and Mariellen Ammerman.

Students Run Government at Boys' and Girls' State

Each year three girls and two boys are selected from the junior class to attend Girls' and Boys' State at Indiana University. These students are selected on the basis of definite interest in government and outstanding qualities for leadership, honesty, good character, courage, cooperation, scholarship, and physical fitness. The boys and girls who attend are provided citizenship training by concentrated study and practice in the operation and services of government and are provided practical and first-hand knowledge of how Indiana's state and local government operates. This program supplements school and home teachings in the responsibilities of citizenship and is non-partisan and non-political. The American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary sponsors these boys and girls through Psi Iota Xi, Tri Kappa, Kiwanis, and Chamber of Commerce organizations. Delegates were: Left to Right: Tom Meeks, Mariellen Ammerman, Jo Ann Molden, Roberta Paul, and Mickey Bell.

Cadet Teachers

Cadet teachers are of great assistance to the faculty. They take over the class when a teacher is absent or called away. They usually substitute in the areas in which they are majoring. The cadet teachers include: FIRST ROW: Tamara Brewer, Sara Wing, Leila Hiner, Dorothy Claborn, Marjorie Hoover, Carol Dallymple and Jo Anne Molden. SECOND ROW: Mike Johnson, James Young, Charles Riggs, Don Moore, Charles Miller, and Tom Meeks. THIRD ROW: Judith Farthing, Patty Stoots, Mariellen Ammerman, Beverly Hudelson, Nancy Trimmell, Julia Hamilton, Irene Smith, and Peggy Meredith.

Youth Aid Faculty

Student Librarians

Student Librarians are in charge of the library in their study periods. Their work is purely voluntary. In the course of their job they help many students, both grade and high school. These students appreciate the time and help given to them by the librarians. The student librarians this year visited the New Castle public library, the high school library, a grade school library, and later a bookmobile. The librarians pictured above from Left to Right are: Larry Reece, Peggy Meredith, Betty Simmons, Nancy Williams, Jerry Pflaummer, Judith Wood, Joyce Storie, Dana Harding, and SEATED is Mary Lou Chance.

Shop Foremen

The nine shop foremen with Mr. Ellis are Leonard Williams, Manesseh Gillam, Jack O'Malley, Mike Johnson, Jerry McNew, Don Jackson, Tom Armstrong, and Phil Frazier. The position as student shop foremen has a three-fold purpose. It increases the knowledge of shop; it shows the student the occupational possibilities in industrial arts, such as teaching it; it also serves as an aid to the instructor. To become a foreman, the boy must pass a foreman test, must be a junior or a senior, and must have a B average in the shop program. Among the many tasks he must perform are grading and checking the students with the supervision of the teacher, preparing and giving tests, and helping the teacher with the final grading. Being a foreman applies to his chance of winning the industrial award.

To Make the Best Better

County, District Winners

Several boys in the 4-H club won awards this past year. Kenneth Masters was awarded a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago. Max Greenwalt, Larry LeMay, Richard Heim, and Ronald Trimmell were the members of the livestock judging team that won first in the county and second in the district. Larry Reece exhibited the champion Yorkshire gilt at the county fair. Gary Hutson was the reserve champion sheep showman and he showed the junior champion Yorkshire gilt at the county fair. Jimmie Browning had the FFA grand champion pen of barrows at the district barrow show in Rushville; Carl Benefiel showed the champion Duroc barrow at the same show. Gordon Huntsman exhibited the champion Holstein and received the champion showmanship award at the county fair. PICTURED Left to Right are: Larry LeMay, Larry Reece, Max Greenwalt, Gordon Huntsman, Gary Hutson, and Jimmie Browning.

Learning to Do

The twenty-two members of the Knightstown Chapter of Future Farmers of America constantly strive to live up to their motto, "Learning to do, Doing to learn, Earning to live, and Living to serve." Last year the FFA boys won first in the county livestock judging contest and third in the district contest. They also won first place in the county dairy judging and county poultry judging contest. Boys holding the Chapter Farmer Degree are Larry LeMay, Jack Avery, Jimmie Browning, and Max Greenwalt. Jack Avery has made application for the Hoosier Farmer Degree. Marilyn Smith is the chapter sweetheart. PICTURED are FIRST ROW: Dennis Basiccker, Donald Erwin, Melvin Basiccker, sentinel, Jimmie Browning, secretary; Larry LeMay, president; Steve Nicholson, Larry Reece. SECOND ROW: Gerald Hughes, Earl Hunt, Bob Lannerd, Max Greenwalt, vice president; Philip Walker, reporter; Ralph Henderson, Richard Cox. THIRD ROW: Jack Avery, treasurer; Charles Keen, Gary Hutson, John Dickins, Darrell Haines, James Swindell, Raymond Dusang, Walter Zimmerman, and Mr. Meeks, sponsor.

The A-band is the performance band. This year the band has appeared in the state fair contest competing with over one hundred bands from all over the state; our band received a very worthy twelveth. It received a second division rating at the annual marching contest at Southport. Individuals participated in the district and all-state solo and ensemble contest at Earlham College and Butler University respectively. They produced the Christmas convocation for the student body, the annual winter concert in March, and the May Musical in the early spring.

B-Band

THE B BAND is the intermediate band where the students learn to play together. Through this organization members become familiar with band fundamentals and essentials. Each student learns the fundamentals of his instrument, the meter of time, how to produce a good tone, and drills in marching fundamentals while a member of this organization. FRONT ROW -Left to Right--Jennifer Parker, Diana Cox, Mary Jo Jolly, June Maym. SECOND ROW-- Larry Camony, Carol Keatts, Janet Jessop, Sue Burton, Carol Rutherford, Phyllis Goodpasture, Linda Smiley, Sonja Ware, Anne Jarvis, Sharon Meredith, Carolyn Jessop. There's Music in the Air

Autumn Leaves

Verlyn Bishop, Darlene Cox, Jane Brosius, and Katie Smith are members of a singing group that, under the direction of Miss McKinney, was begun in 1954. Barbara White was also a member of the group until she moved to Franklin Township this past year. The girls, who enjoy singing very much, have made several appearances for various organizations. The quartet has sung for the local Kiwanis Club, the Chamber of Commerce, the Business and Professional Women, Dunreith's Odd Fellows Lodge and other local clubs including the Wednesday Club and the Shakespeare Club. They sang for the social studies section of the Indiana State Teachers' Association this year. The group also sings at the various school convocations. They gained a very nice experience by auditioning for the Rhodes Show, which is on WFBM-TV. The girls have made several future engagements.

Spelling Bee Winners

It has been the custom of Knightstown School to have a spelling bee. The teachers choose the students by a process of elimination with spelling matches. The students then compete with other students near their grade level. In the picture are Cindy Huber, 1st and 2nd grade winner, Sara Win, Wing, high school winner, Mary Jo Sorrell, Jr. high winner, Julia Mayhill, 5th and 6th grade winner and Joan Buehler, 3rd and 4th grade winner.

Christmas Window Winners

At Christmas time members of Miss McKinney's art classes painted colorful Christmas scenes on the windows of different rooms. The windows were then judged by Mrs. Tom Mayhill, Mrs. Earl Carter, and Mrs. Hans Buehler. The winning window was the superintendent's office painted by Gary Sharp, Jack Avery, and Bob Durham. In the picture the boys are receiving instructions from Miss McKinney.

Pep Band

Rock 'n Roll Time

Some greatly anticipated events at Knightstown High School are the dances following the home basketball games. The dances are sponsored by the junior and senior classes. They are open only to Knightstown students and their dates. Records furnish the music for the dancers. This picture is a good example of the good times had by all.

Seniors Earn Sweaters

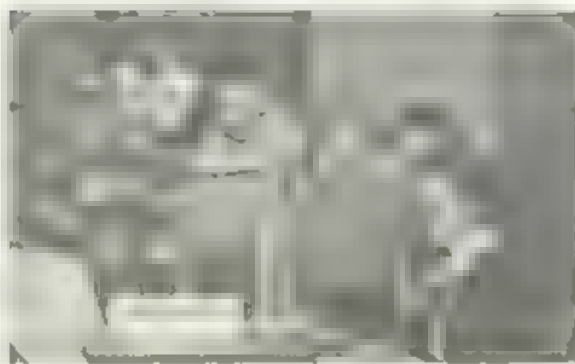

This group of seniors is displaying the sweaters awarded to them for participating in band four years. The sweaters with two extra chevrons represent six years of active band work. Many of these seniors are also members of the pep band. The seniors who have been awarded sweaters are FRONT ROW: Carol Dalrymple, Sara Wing, Carole Ulrey, Dee Ellen Haase, Roberta Paul, and Mariellen Ammerman. SECOND ROW: Barbara Conner, Ronnie Lawrence, Priscilla Jackson, Linda Ewing, and Beverly Hudelson.

We are proud to present to you the second volume of The Galaxy. By "Working Together" we feel we have accomplished our goal in presenting to you an annual well worth having. By each student doing his individual part we have created an enthusiasm for a more perfect book. These students have co-operated with our advisor in writing copy, taking pictures, setting up Triple-R's, and sending them off to press. Knightstown and Kennard have begun working together successfully this year and this Galaxy shows the combined effort of these students. We, the Yearbook class of 1957-58, challenge the students in the years to come to carry out the tradition that we have begun. To succeed in this the students will need foresight and determination.

Working Together

with the Elementary

Pretending to be Indians

Mrs. Darlene Petry is telling a story to Jan Lockridge and Allen Commer. By pretending to be Indians at the beginning of school, Kennard first graders learned to be courteous, cooperative and quiet. They did many things to go with the Indian theme of "living, playing and working together at school." To learn each others names they made and wore headbands. They made a spool-board to count to 100 along with other things for number work.

FOURTH ROW: Michael Jarrett, Randy Johnson, Donald Jackson, Randall Kern, Jimmy Ellis, Loren Ratzlaff, John Swindell.

North, West,

South, East

A wide variety of subjects is studied in the second grade. To make these subjects more interesting, Mrs. Daisy Ballenger combines them by working seasonal bulletin boards of leaves, bugs, special days and impressive buildings. Social Studies become fun when you take imaginary trips. In this novel way the children visit many exciting places.

Developing Skills

With Mrs. Frances Ratzlaff's help the third grade developed skill in adding, subtracting, and some multiplying. Here she is checking problems for Terry Hoff and Donnie Whittle. The book "All Around America" was used in social studies, which gave the children a look into life through our country. The fourth grade covered mostly multiplication and division in arithmetic. In English they wrote letters, thus forming sentences and using new words. In social studies, six units told how people lived in different lands that were studied.

Fifth Grade

Publishes Newspaper

The fifth grade, under the direction of Mrs. Joanne Derrickson, published a school newspaper every two weeks. It was called The Rockette and contained news about each room, the cafeteria, announcements, sports, poems, jokes, and feature articles on the teachers. Here Mrs. Derrickson helps Marsha Kissick and John Jarrett publish a paper.

Stressing the 3 R's

Miss Grace Casey's fifth grade has stressed spelling and writing this year. Science has been a new study, in which experiments have been fun.

The class has collected pictures and made product charts for social studies. They also made a display showing progress from colonial days to the present time.

Students Learn Correct English

Mr. Hartley's sixth grade read stories and outlined them in their language arts work. They also rewrote stories into newspaper form; rewrote sentences using synonyms; studied sentence and paragraph structure, punctuation, parts of speech, letter writing and spelling.

Another first in the sixth grade this year was the basketball team and playing schedule with other schools. Of course it wasn't complete without the cheering section and its efficient leaders.

A Science Lesson Is Given

Mrs. Daisy Bovard, first and second grade teacher at Raysville, is explaining the science lesson to her students. This year a new project was started called "The Brother and Sister Club." Each second grader drew the name of a first grade pupil; then he played big brother or big sister to that child by helping him on the play ground and always setting him a good example. The children enjoy this and it is helpful to both classes.

Opening the Door to Knowledge

Myrtle Hamm, third and fourth grade teacher at Raysville, has many projects this year. Her third grade has begun multiplication and borrowing in subtraction. This is also their first year in Science. The fourth graders have a weather chart in their science study and have begun long division. Mrs. Hamm takes her classes to the Children's Museum each year. Also the painting of windows at Christmas is an annual event.

Let's Say "A"

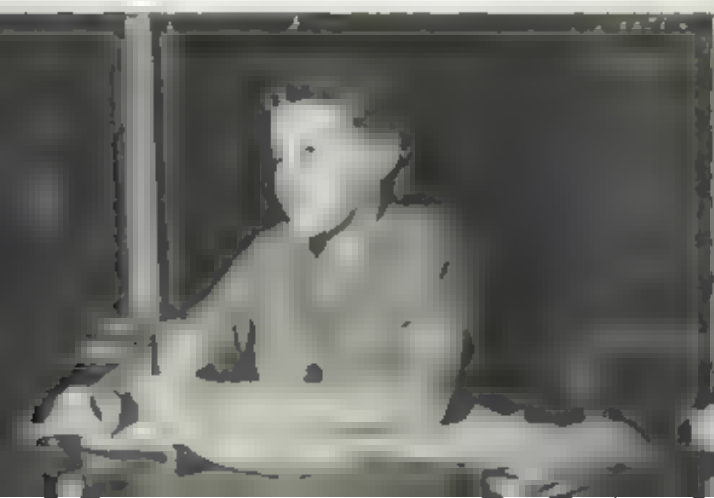

Mrs. Ruth Hiner is listening to her group of first graders recite in reading class. Her aim is to instill in each child if possible, a liking for school and to prepare him to work to the fullest extent of his ability. In her grade the pupils have reading, numbers, spelling, writing, phonics, science, music, and art. If she achieves her aim, each child has accomplished something worthwhile each day.

Mrs. Sue Payne, second and third grade teacher at Central, is listening to her third grade health class recite. In which they are learning what happens to people and animals who don't eat the proper foods. Although the second graders do not have a health book, they are learning how to keep healthy from the units they are having in science about the foods we need, and from where they come.

A Food Chart Shows Them

Mrs. Jeannette Coffin points out to her third and fourth graders the importance of eating the right foods from the food chart. The most outstanding project in her room has been the publication of a small magazine. The first issue came out before Thanksgiving and the second at Easter time, telling of their class activities, games, parents, and friends.

Parents and Teachers

"Working Together"

Mrs. Lucille Mettel, fifth grade teacher at Central, chats with the student's mothers. In November the mothers were invited in after school for coffee and cookies. The purpose of this meeting was for the mothers to get acquainted and for the teachers to meet the mothers of new children in Central school. It is hoped that by parents and teachers "Working Together" the time spent in the fifth grade will be profitable and enjoyable for each child.

Tags Teach Students' Names

Mrs. Erma Hartley, first and second grade teacher at Greensboro, watches as James McCall points out the weather on a science poster for Connie House. Each first grade child's name was put in his seat so that he could learn to recognize his name and those of his classmates. His full name is kept on a strip of tag board and on a wall chart, but it can be moved to mark his position at the chalk board or elsewhere in the room.

Students Learn to Tell Time

The third grade, under the guidance of Mrs. Helen Farthing, worked on combinations in arithmetic. They learned to multiply, to measure, and also to tell time. Science is a new subject in which they learned about irrigation, plants and how dishes are made. Covered Wagons were made in social studies. A mural was also made in connection with the study of The Western Development.

Tigers vs. Panthers in Spelling Contest

The fourth grade, under the direction of Huldah Baughn, made pictures on the unit of westward movement. The class was divided into two teams, the Tigers and the Panthers, and a spelling contest was held every six weeks. The fourth graders also had science for the first time, which proved very interesting.

The Panthers Fight for Victory

First Graders Go Visiting

Geneva Bales is grading some first grade papers. The first grades like to visit the other rooms. At the first of the school year, they went around to the other rooms to "get acquainted" with the building. Then, around Halloween, they repeated their visit, this time dressed in costumes made of garment bags. It was a lot of fun for them and for those they visited.

Learning to Spell

Helen Herkless is giving her first grade students words to spell. In the background are pictures of giraffes which the children have drawn. They learned to read and print. They also took a trip to a farm.

Three R's Stressed

Mrs. Walker is watching her second grade class work at the blackboard. The students have learned to add combinations up to twenty, and to count to one thousand. The WEEKLY READER, a current event newspaper, aids the class in reading. The students are also encouraged to write original stories and poems.

New Books Create Interest

Mrs. Ward is listening to her second grade class reading one of the new text books added to the class. The students enjoy reading their science books and a new interest in science has been created through these books. The other new book, a health book, has also proved very interesting to the class.

Map Illustrates Weather News

Mrs. Oakerson watches as the children indicate the day's weather on their weather map. The children of grade three drew a large map of Indiana, showing its physical features. Each morning they study and report on the day's weather forecast. A large red umbrella is hung over the Knightstown area on a rainy day. A bright sun, or a sun, partially covered by a gray cloud may be used on appropriate days.

Turkey Farm Was Exciting

As Helen Rogers grades the papers of her third grade pupils, she recalls the exciting trip to a turkey farm just before Thanksgiving. Later they wrote stories, made problems, and had spelling lessons about their trip.

Fourth's Plan Tulips

Miss Dowell beams happily at the success of the tulip planting project. The fourth graders sponsored the planting of over 500 tulip bulbs on the grounds near the new building. John Dickerson made the suggestion for this project. Other projects for the year are making of scrapbooks about Indiana, collections of seeds, the planning and decorating of the window box each month.

Models Aid Transportation Study

Mrs. Weimer looks on as the children make models of transportation methods. The students studied different modes of transportation and made models of airplanes, boats, carts, automobiles, trains, camels, etc. as they went from one country to another. In science they performed simple experiments on plants and seeds, moving things on water, and neighbors in space.

Fifths Had Fun

with Fractions

Viva Messick is grading arithmetic papers. The students held an English contest in which the students were divided into two teams. They then tried to catch some member of the other team making a grammatical error so that they might score a point.

Reading Was Enjoyed by Class

Lucinda Newby enjoys listening to her students read. Her fifth grade pupils did a "We Were There" bulletin board on places to which they had been. They also took in clippings from newspapers and magazines for a "Current Event" bulletin board.

Past, Present and Future

Crystal McShurley enjoys talking with her class about Queen Elizabeth's visit. The pupils are also interested in the past and present as evidenced by their study of the history of Knightstown School, satellites and space travel. Several boys perform a service for the community by acting as patrol boys.

Decorate Room

Ida Poer's classroom takes on many different moods as it is decorated each month with a new seasonal project. The class is taking a mythical trip by studying the countries of the Eastern Hemisphere. There are six boys from this class who are active as patrol boys.

They Watch the Children

The patrol boy at Knightstown has a very important job; therefore he must be dependable. The boys are all sixth graders. They are chosen on the basis of courtesy, friendliness, and dependability. Each year the boys are furnished badges and straps by the Hoosier Motor Club. At the end of the year they are presented with a pen and certificate for their work. The patrol boys this year were, FRONT ROW: Gordon Huntsman, Mike Sites, Phil Davis, Stephen Post, Richard Shaffer, Steve Jackson, Rick Shaffer. SECOND ROW: Phil Brown, Rex Keesling, Marcus McCleese, Lesley Groce, Ronald Womack, Billy Dawes. THIRD ROW: David Brooks, Billy Hager, Mitchell DeWeese, Wayne Chew, Stephen Heathcock, and Kieth Dalton.

Absentee Students

Helping One Another

The students at Knightstown have a feeling of helpfulness to each other. Any time a student sees a fellow classmate needing help he is always willing to come to his aid. Here is a good example of the students helping each other.

Linda Cross became the victim of polio when she was seven years old. Since she was in the third grade she has had help in getting to and from school. At first it was a taxi that brought her, but as time went on, boys volunteered to go get her and take her home. In this picture she is shown with Jack O'Malley, the boy who brought her this year.

Ellen Rowan was crowned queen of the 1957 Junior Prom by Tom Meeks, Junior class president. Miss Rowan's court consisted of Patsy Sorrell, Joan Jolley, Linda Leward, and Kay Richey. The Knightstown gym was attractively decorated around the theme of "An Evening In The Isles." The lobby of the gym was decorated as though it were a deck of a big ocean liner, and the gym as an island with palm trees, flowers, a starry sky, and a sandy beach. As you walked from the lobby into the gym, it gave the impression that you had just arrived and walked off deck to spend an evening on the island.

Supt. L. E. Rogers, presenting Ellen Rowan with her diploma, is doing the job with which he has become very familiar during the past thirty-seven years. In the past three years he has taken great pleasure in presenting alumni of Knightstown High School as commencement speakers. In 1955 Clifford Hardin, Chancellor of the University of Nebraska, was the guest speaker, in 1956 Stuart Tipton, President of the Air Transport Association of America, presented the annual address, and in 1957 Robert Cooper, head of the Science Department at Ball State Teacher's College, challenged the class with timely thoughts.

Working With Our Churches

Each year there is a very close relationship between our school and our churches. Several ministers appear before our student body at convocations. Churches use the gymnasium for basketball games. About the last service of the church is the participation of some of the ministers chosen by the senior class to participate in the Commencement and Baccalaureate services. This year Rev. Ernest Hegerreis, on the left, minister of the Knightstown Methodist Church, was the speaker for the Senior Baccalaureate services held Sunday evening, June 1, 1958. He was assisted by Rev. Reuben Ratzlaff, on the right, minister of the Kennard Christian Church.
